There are many different types of therapies available for children with special needs. Many say that they can 'cure' autism.

Many parents sign up from one type of therapy or another and do not see the results which are as expected. However, some have claimed their methods which they have embarked on 'cure' their children of autism.

Come to our sharing session to share about your experiences and thoughts, as well as hear from other parents in the same shoes.

Registration Fee: $3 per person

Refreshments will be provided
